WHAT IS WATERFRONT SEATTLE?

Waterfront Seattle will create a new public space that reconnects Seattle to Elliott Bay. Once the aging Alaskan Way viaduct is removed in 2018, the program will build a new, multimodal surface street along Alaskan Way and Elliott Way providing access in and out of downtown, create eight acres of new public parks, and improve east-west street connections from Seattle’s retail core, Pioneer Square and Belltown to the waterfront. The program is led by the City of Seattle’s Office of the Waterfront, and builds on the construction currently underway to replace the Elliott Bay Seawall.
